In the Market For a WHEAT DRILL

Then Our "New Peoria" Is What You Want

It has perfect working discs, fitted with dust proof chilled bearings, single draw bars that will not gather trash, staggered spoke wheels with 7-inch hub and 3-inch tires, continuous rear bar with truss rod to support seat and keep drill from sagging, direct pressure in rear of disc; a feature we claim will make this drill work perfectly in any land suitable for sowing grain and where other drills cannot be operated. A seat in center of drill convenient to lever is also furnished. Drop in and let us show you what this drill can do, and furnish you with the names of a score of satisfied users. One feature of our drill that puts it in a class by itself and makes it superior to all other drills on the market is the "Peoria Disc Shoe." You won't find the disc shoe on any other press drill on earth, the Peoria people have that feature cinched and they are going to hang on to it. If you want to know why we can grow more wheat to the acre after this drill than any other with the same amount of grain sown, come in and let us explain to you the "New Peoria Disc Shoe Drill."

Brings the Highest Average Price
Per Pound in Fifty Years

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 15th.—
Figures of startling import, tending to show that the dismantling of the Tobacco Trust has helped the tobacco farmer by raising the price of tobacco will be heard soon by the Department of Agriculture.

The price of tobacco per pound for August, 1912, was approximately 11 7/8, according to an unofficial statement from the Department of Agriculture, the exact figures not being available. Except for the short crop years—1865, 1864 and 1863—this price was higher than the average price per pound that has been paid for tobacco for any year since colonial times, when a planter could buy a wife for a few hundred pounds of his then new luxury.

A statement from the department just issued gives the tobacco acreage for 1912 as 1,194,200. Estimating the size of the crop upon its condition for September 1st, as compared with that for the corresponding date of 1911, the department predicts that 976,000,000 pounds will be produced this year. The largest crop yet produced was that of 1909, which passed the billion mark.

The crop for 1911 was 905,000,000 pounds, and there were 1,012,800 acres planted. The average price per pound for 1911 was 9.04 cents.

The average price has not reached 11 cents per pound before this year since 1865, when a crop of 178,355,000 pounds brought 11.8 cents. The two years preceding 1865 the price was 14.8 and 14.9 cents.

ORANGEBURG

Consolidated School Started Off Yesterday Under Most Gratifying Conditions
Enrollment of 111 Pupils and Two Transportation Wagons at Work

The new Consolidated School at Orangeburg, the second in Mason county, opened yesterday under the most auspicious circumstances.

The schoolhouses at Mt. Gilend, Dickson, Sedden and Plumville have been closed and abandoned as public schools, the scholars going to the Orangeburg Consolidated School, the second school of the kind in Mason county, Mayslick being the other one.

Yesterday's enrollment totaled 111 pupils taught by the following teachers:

Principal—George H. Turnipseed.
Assistants—Miss Mabel Butterfield, a graduate of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, and Miss Minnie Tolle of this county.

The pleasing program ushering in the new school was very appropriate and highly enjoyable.

Rev. C. A. Conkwell of Mayslick opened the exercises with prayer and also made a helpful address, as did Miss Jessie O. Yancey, County Superintendent, who is again to be congratulated for establishing the second consolidated school in Mason county and the transportation method of hauling distant pupils to school.

Prof. Turnipseed, the principal, in taking charge of this enlarged school, stated in his welcome remarks that thirteen years ago he taught at Orangeburg and that he felt pleased and honored that he is now in charge of the consolidated system in the same place.

A more happy and delighted lot of children was never seen than those at Orangeburg yesterday. It is no longer the little lonesome school, but a fine gathering of three rooms full, three teachers, up-to-date condition, and, best of all, free wagons to haul the pupils to and from school.

Is not such a changed condition inspiring, alike to pupil, teacher and parent?

There is a talk of uniting the negroes of all the Presbyterian denominations in the United States in one body. We think this movement is in the right direction. The independent negro churches have far outstripped those under the control of white people.—Texas Christian Advocate.

THE CROWN JEWEL OF STATESMANSHIP.

Sincerity is the primary token of true patriotism and the one essential hall-mark of trustworthy statesmanship.

What makes great men great? The question is the theme of much complex reasoning. With many subtle refinements of analysis, historians, essayists and orators undertake to account for the strength of outstanding leaders in the nation's life. But for such of those leaders as remain, after their own generation has passed from action, supreme figures of patriotic history still, the explanation is not complex but very simple:

They were honest men—men of reality—men void of pretense.

Mark their genuineness, and the inner secret of their greatness is known.

Washington and Lincoln—even Hamilton and Jefferson—were not men of any singular genius. Contemporaries may be easily named equal to all of them in intellectual power, yet never rising for a moment to comparison with their might as leaders of men and molders of national destiny.

And the difference which has made a few great where many were small is at bottom only this—that when these few unapproached saints of patriotism said they were of the people, it was true; whereas the lesser brood, though professing unctuously the same single-minded zeal, crelong betrayed the selfish bias of their ambition, seeking glory, gain and power to fatten an individual vanity, Olympian in pretension but petty and stunting in effect.

It is sometimes said that in politics no man's motives ought to be questioned—that the seed of offensive personality in political discussion is sown when any public leader is accused of being dishonest in his professions of principles and purposes. But the personal inquiry that rests on knowing whether men standing forth for political leadership are true men or not is offensive only to such as are unable to endure trial by this criterion. And there is no discrimination and discreet voting which does not apply that very criterion of sincerity as keenly and exactly as availing knowledge will permit.

No matter what may be the claims of party allegiance or the appeal of political enunciations, the well-advised citizen will vote for none outside the boundaries of honest manhood.—The Continent.

Of course The Continent is referring to the base ambition of Theodore Roosevelt.

TEDDY BEATS CHARLEY WHITE MOON.

The Colonel told the folks out in Montana on Saturday that he would not be a king if he could. He says he would greatly prefer to be President—indeinitely, of course, we presume. A modern king is a cross between a perpetual Vice President and a leader of the four hundred, says the Colonel. He knows a few of the breed and therefore is not inclined to tread in their footsteps.

All of this is very reassuring and we thank the distinguished gentleman heartily for setting at rest the fears of those of his fellow citizens who see in his third term ambition a menace of crown and sceptre. We have always regarded the Colonel as safe and sound on that proposition. Even if he could turn the trick, spring his coup d'etat and take charge of affairs as Theodore I, we don't believe he would do it, for he would rather far be a live politician than a dead king.

As matters stand he is free to cavort all over the landscape on private cars and special trains secured for him by his great and good friend Perkins and other great and good friends, and make enough noise to finance twenty ordinary campaigns. He enjoys the distinction of being the best advertised man in Christendom and there are other perquisites attached to his job of disturber-in-chief that appeal to him mightily.

No, Theodore has entirely too much knowledge of the temper of the American people to try any king business. But as a modern political dictator, unhampered by constitutions or traditions—well that's another matter.—Pittsburgh (Pa.) Star.

"SPEAK OUT! SPEAK OUT!"

Democratic Stomachs Revolt Against Wilson-Marshall Misch.

"Speak out! Speak out!" is the almost desperate cry of the New York World, the newspaper chiefly responsible for the nomination of Woodrow Wilson in 1912, as it was for the nomination of Alton B. Parker in 1904. Day after day, it seems, the World has been waiting with ears to the windward for some point, some virile, vital expression from its latest presidential jack out of the box on questions of the hour, some solid positive utterance by the candidate, which it could grab and lay about with as a campaign shillalah. It has waited in vain. Rounded periods of dreary drivel, pedagogical commonplaces that might have come out of a third reader and which had about as much relation to issues of the campaign as "It is a sin to steal a pin" has to Metropolitan opera, have been fed to curious crowds and to editors waiting with whetted pens for red hot meteors of inspiration.

Disappointment and disgust are not confined to the World office. "We asked you for bread and you gave us a stone," is paraphrased in Democratic sentiment by "We asked you for meat and you gave us mush." Nauseated with Wilson they turned to Marshall only to find him as apert of vacuous platitudes as his coadjutor.

It's a hopeless appeal. As well try to seize the elusive tail of a greased pig at a county fair as expect to get anything definite out of Wilson. He was definite enough when he said in his "History of the American People" that "the Chinese are more to be desired as workmen, if not as citizens," than "the coarse crew crowding in at eastern ports"—that is, immigrants from Europe. He was definite enough in saying in the same book that congress had "dealt very harshly" in passing the law excluding Chinese from the United States. He was definite enough in denouncing immigrants from Poland, Hungary and Italy.

Identically Wilson can speak out if he wants to, and the inference is that he is afraid to. On the issue of a navy powerful enough to defend the interests and uphold the honor of the United States he is silent for fear of offending the Democratic majority in congress opposed to strengthening the navy. On the tariff he is, to quote an old comparison, "neither a man, nor a mouse, nor a long tailed rat," but more like one of those ancient Egyptian monstrosities carved on the mummy cases, with heads looking contrarily wise. On one point he is definite—he wants to be president, and he doesn't care much how he gets there. He is willing to slosh through a sea of boosh to the White House, and now that he has the nomination he counts upon the world and the rest of the whangdoodles to follow, whether they like his style or not.

Perhaps they will, notwithstanding grimaces of disgust and protesting cries to speak out.

But the people—they want a man for president.

"PLAYING THE GAME."

Truly, President Taft Does Not Follow System Politically.

That is a criticism often heard of President Taft. It is the professional politician usually who voices it, but often it is repeated by those who are accustomed to take their estimates of public men and their political opinions from others.

Playing the game has been the occupation of time serving politicians from time immemorial. Men who regard politics as a game like to see it played deftly. Other men without fixed ideas on the subject parrot the criticism passed by the experts.

Playing the game in politics necessarily has deceit as its fundamental principle.

The public man who sees developing an issue that might prove embarrassing to him personally, and who manages, by guile, to divert public attention to another, a lesser, but a perfectly safe, issue, plays the game.

The public man who makes public protestations of his enmity toward swollen wealth and then holds secret conferences with the representatives of that wealth, plays the game.

The public man who preaches one code of political morality and practices another plays the game.

The public man who utters sounding but empty phrases, no matter how delightful his diction or how superb his eloquence, plays the game.

The public man who makes promises impossible of fulfillment plays the game.

The public man who puts the acquisition of public favor above ideals of public service plays the game.

Truly, President Taft does not know how to play the game.

He has been reared in an atmosphere of service rather than politics, as we have come to know politics. The thing that has always concerned him is the doing of an act, not the spectacular staging of it, nor the exploitation of it, nor, on the contrary, the concealment of it.

To serve has always been his ideal, not merely to acquire the appearance of serving.

It has been impossible for him to look upon public service as a game. The public's business, as he regards it, is serious business.

There is reason for the belief that the American people as a whole share with him this view. The growing intelligence of the nation is rejecting the idea that the selection of their leaders is merely a sporting

A WORD WITH WOMEN

VALUABLE ADVICE FOR MAYSVILLE READERS

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pain about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

You can tell it is kidney trouble if the secretions are dark colored, contain sediment, the passages are too frequent or scanty. These help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone.

Don's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed at a—Read this Maysville woman's conviction statement:

Mrs. Sam Neal, 437 West Second street, Maysville, Ky., says: "Although I have never had Don's Kidney Pills myself, I can recommend them. One of my family had a great deal of trouble from his back and kidneys. Don's Kidney Pills made him entirely better and he always praises them."

"A song sung for the graphophone ten years ago may be just as fresh today as the day the record was made." So it is with God's promise of victory over the grave. It was made a few thousand years ago and recorded in the bible. Open the bible any day and that promise is still there, and means just as much as it did the day it was recorded.

IRONTON MAN

Asks $25,000 Damages For False
Arrest on Charge of Rape

Russell Democrat.

Charles Lusk of Ironton has filed quite a sensational suit in the Greenup Circuit Court against J. P. Hill of this place, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Williams, formerly of Russell and Rev. O. L. Hamilton, former Pastor of the M. E. Church, South, here, but now of Ashland.

Lusk alleges that the plaintiffs caused his false arrest and imprisonment in 1910 upon a charge of having raped Elizabeth Hamilton daughter of two of the defendants and he asks damages to the extent of $25,000 for same.

The events of this case are familiar to Greenup county people.

EXPLAIN NOISE OF THUNDER

Modern Science Asserts the Sound
Is Caused by a Series of Explosions

There have been a great many different theories about the cause of the noise we call thunder. Some savage nations think it is caused by the clouds knocking together in a storm and making a spark, like two pieces of flint, with a crackling sound at the same time. Not long ago, when electricity first began to be understood, many persons believed that the lightning made a hole in the air as it passed along and that the rush of air to fill up this vacuum caused the noise just as it is caused by the air rushing back into the vacuum in a big cannon.

The more modern theory, based on some remarkable experiments with very fluffy cotton that was made damp, is that the intense heat of the electrical discharge instantly turns the surrounding vapor of the cloud into steam and causes an explosion as sudden and fierce as gunpowder. It is the number and diversity of these explosions that makes the crackling sound we hear when the thunder is close to us, which would not be the case if the cause were the air rushing into a single vacuum, as that would make only one big bang, just like a cannon.

HAS CHANGED AS CANDIDATE

Woodrow Wilson's Speeches Now
Those of Office Seeker.

Scattered among the platitudes of Dr. Wilson's speech of acceptance are some truths. None is more significant than this:

"We stand in the presence of an awakened nation, impatient of partisan make believe."

Following which he makes believe that he is telling the voters of the country his position on the campaign issues. No one has yet been able to determine from a reading of the speech precisely what that position is. Some eight enlightenment comes from time to time in his later utterances, like, for example, the declaration the other day that Tammany is to be safe from his assault; but none of it is satisfying.

Dr. Wilson, in the pre-convention days, was represented to the country as a scholarly gentleman, too lofty of mind to practice the wiles of the professional politician, too earnest in the cause of good government to be caught by frank and fearless in his expression, too unselfish to put private ambition above the public weal, too idealistic in character to truckle to the forces of evil in the nation.

But how singularly he has masked all of these qualities since William Jennings Bryan forced his nomination at Baltimore.

There is no difference, save in the purity of the English, between his speeches and the speeches of the worst professional office seeker of the worst period in American politics. He stuns us by footed over all the large questions of the day. He exhibits a suspiciously broad tolerance for all elements in the body politic, even the elements which, to nominate him, Bryan found it expedient to denounce by name in the convention. There is none of the rugged frankness of utterance that characterized his writings in the days before he was imbeciled with the virus of political ambition. He is proving over and over again that he is not a politician.

It is not a pleasant nor a heartening exhibition he makes of himself. The right minded citizen can feel nothing but sadness in contemplating a man of education and culture so intent upon partisan and personal victory that he sacrifices those ideals of truth and honesty for which he has always stood to fawn upon and honeycomb the voters.

Dr. Wilson as a candidate is not in character with the Dr. Wilson that was pictured to us prior to the Baltimore convention. This "awakened nation, impatient of partisan make believe," detects the difference.

ASTOUNDING

Report That 27 Cases of Typhoid and 2 Deaths Have Resulted Among Adams County Teachers

Held Institute on Steel City and Imbued Ohio River Water

It is stated on good authority that typhoid fever was epidemic among the 151 Adams county, Ohio, teachers, who held their 1912 Institute on board the steamer Steel City last summer, and that since their trip 27 cases of typhoid have resulted and two deaths have occurred.

The foul Ohio River water imbued is directly charged with causing the epidemic.

Now since the recent floods in West Virginia the Ohio River has been in a very muddy state and the water is thought to be infected with all kinds of germs. In order to prevent any possible illness from drinking the water the captains of the steamboats plying between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh have been given orders by their companies to boil every drop of water that is used on the boats, either for drinking or cooking purposes. The water is purified through some process with steam.

Consisting of About 137 Acres!

Said farm lies on the South of Millersburg, about one-half mile from town on the east side of the Maysville and Lexington turnpike; the L. & N. R. R. running along west side. This is one of the most desirable farms in the county. It has on it a story brick house, with new roof, and is in good condition; a tobacco barn and warehouse, with plank floor and good tobacco sows; stable, corn crib, buggy house, chicken house, smoke house and splendid ice house, three cellars; also tenement house, two cabins, and the best spring in the county, and two other fields with ever-falling water. This farm is well fenced, and is in a good neighborhood as anyone could wish, and can be plowed. There is about 35 acres in corn and the rest in grass.
